Effects of Eyestrain

A few of the many symptoms of eyestrain are dry, itchy, or inflamed eyes, pain in eyeball, eyes tire easily, dizziness, headache, sick-headache—made worse by shopping, riding on cars—cross eyes etc., etc.; and by its constant drain upon the nervous system eyestrain is one of the great disturbers of good health. The cause of eyestrain is an imperfectly developed eyeball and the only way to stop it is by the constant wear of properly fitted glasses. My business is fitting glasses to correct the full defect and stop all eyestrain. My next date at Dr. Merrill's office is Monday, Feb. 15.

OLD SETTLERS' DAY

PLANS PRACTICALLY COMPLETED BY COMMITTEES

PLANS are nearing completion for the "one big day celebration" in Campbell, "Old Settlers' Day," Feb. 22. This is the twenty-third annual gathering of the old settlers and pioneers of this valley tho the celebration is becoming very popular with all ages.

Chairman Warren Shelly of the hall committee has made arrangements whereby the programs of the day will be held at the auditorium of the Methodist church, and the tables for the picnic dinners will be spread at the I. O. O. F. hall across the street.

The program committee has practically completed its plans and the program will probably be published next week, in full.

A most cordial invitation is extended to all to come and spend the day getting acquainted with their neighbors. Bring your basket lunch. Hot coffee, cream and sugar will be furnished by the Improvement Club.

Mr. Man have you had a pair of the Waukerz Shoes made on the Nature shape last? If not, why not? $4.50.
THE CAMPBELL SHOE STORE.

H. W. Morton took E. E. Lanphear, Alex. Adam, H. C. Smith and C. P. Herrington to Los Gatos Friday evening to hear the colo'd boys sing.

Ralph Cookson, who has been eujoying a short vacation, resumed his duties with the Southern Pacific at San Luis Obispo this morning.

The Maine society met at the Christian church last evening, at its annual midwinter banquet and social. Dr. and Mrs. W. I. Merrill attended from Campbell.

Everyone who has lived in Iowa is cordially invited to come to Campbell on the 22nd of Feb. A splendid dinner will be served by the ladies of the W. C. T. U. at 50c a plate. The after dinner meeting can then be attended in the Coffee Club room. Come to dinner if possible. If not, come any how.

"Well, Watson," said Sherlock Holmes as he shot the needle home into his arm, "it is without doubt the most puzzling case I've ever had. I perceive, by the letters in your pocket that you are going to the post office. On your way beck will you get me a pound of shagg tobacco, and also a pound of Yorkshire Toffee at KING'S?

C. E. Day Observed

The local Christian Endeavor society observed the "C. E. Day" with a novel plan. The young people had their meeting around the tables in the dining room. The tables arranged like a large C were tastefully decorated in C. E. colors, each one having a favor of violets tied with purple and gold ribbon accompanied by a C. E. monogram. After light refreshments, the President led in the devotional services and received into the Senior society 8 young people. Toasts were responded to by various County C. E. officers and Mrs. Campbell sang one of Tom Hanney s favorite songs. The Church Service was taken over by Stanley G. Roberts, President Santa Clara County C. E. Union, and four of his officers, speaking on "Christian Endeavor that is worth while." Our friend Dickson Ewing was present and sang a solo. Mr. Smith and Miss Duncan of the local society sang a beautiful duet. Both rooms were tastefully decorated for "C. E's Birthday." President Roberts was greatly taken with the luncheon idea for C. E. meetings and said he would recommend it to other societies.

San Mateo Won

The Campbell boys, who had by their skill, become champions of Santa Clara county, went down to defeat before the San Mateo county champions Friday evening by a score of 19 to 31. The Saints put up a better tho rougher game, one of their men being put out early in the contest for his unnecessary tactics. Luck was against us for many a goal was circled by the ball only to fall out. Then again, on account of the wet weather our boys who play outside all winter, were unable to practice for some time, while the commuters practiced daily on an indoor court.

The fans declare that the score would have been the other way had the game been played here. The boys were well pleased with the fairness of Referee Walker of San Jose. Several auto loads attended from here.

California Facts

January, 1915, was a month of nearly normal temperature in all sections. There were no periods of either marked warm or cold weather and no damaging frosts. There is a large amount of well-packed snow in the mountains, which would indicate an ample supply of water for irrigation and power purposes next summer. From present indications there is every reason to expect large crops this season.

The production of crude oil in California for 1914 is placed at 103,623,695 barrels, as against 97,867,148 barrels in 1913.

The San Fernando Valley reports the location of a packing house and cannery which will insure both fruit and vegetable growers against loss of their surplus produce.

A corporation has been formed in Lordsburg to manufacture culls and low-grade shipments of lemons into lemon oil and citrate of lime. At present the United States imports annually about $1,500,000 worth of these two products from Italy.

Redwood City reports a new plant for the manufacture of magnesia. It is stated that $100,000 has been expended in machinery and buildings.

The tuna fish pack for 1914 reached 300,000 cases, which is more than double the pack of 1913.

The total assessed value of all property in California for 1914 was $3,232,646,151, as against $3,114,136,640 in 1913.

During the year 1914 the California Highway Commission let 153 contracts for approximately 1200 miles of road at a cost of between ten and eleven million dollars. In addition to this, the counties have done a great amount of road building and road improving.

Mrs. Cowles To Give Benefit Lecture

Mrs. G. B. Cowles will deliver a lecture on the Zulu man of South Africa at the High School auditorium this (Friday) evening. Mrs. Cowles is giving this for the benefit of the student body treasury and a most liberal patronage is deserved.

She is thoroughly acquainted with the language and customs of these Zulus having spent most of her life there in the Missionary field. Her talk is a most interesting and instructive one and well worth the admission.

Curios and pictures of this wonderful land and its people will be shown before and after the lecture.

Mrs. Ellen Beebe, mother of Mrs. G. W. Baldwin, has purchased the Thurmond property on Rincon Ave. She will come from San Jose to make this her home. Campbell will be glad to welcome her as a citizen.

Congregational Church

"The Friendly Church just around the Corner."

The morning theme will be the third in the present series "The Cross Builders." From the Cross of the Christ there issues a penetrating power. Those who touched this tragedy of the world did so only to have their characters discovered, the secret of their soul shown. The things which gave shape to their conduct were unveiled.

The theme this time being "Peter, The Wave-Rock Man." Come and enjoy these Character studies Sunday mornings. Talk to the boys and girls on "Windows Overhead."

Pastor's Class at 2:30, and Sunday-School at the usual time. Something special for Lincoln Sunday.

No evening service or Endeavor, as it is our regular Bi-Monthly Union meeting, this time at the M. E. Church. Topic for Young People's meeting, "The Solid Foundations of Life." Miss Merna Sawyer, leader.

Theme for Union Evening Service: "The Battle of the Gods."

GEO. E. ATKINSON, Pastor.

FINE GROCERIES General Merchandise

Were you ever in Lutesville, Missouri?

No? Well, it isn't important. We were just going to remark that a couple of Lutesville boys are selling a contrivance for testing eggs by electric light.

You know, of course, that the idea of testing eggs by light is as old as the hills; but this little electric apparatus is unusually convenient. We saw one of the testers; liked it; ordered one; and received the machine by parcel post last Saturday.

Hereafter, every egg that you buy of us will have been tested, and guaranteed to be fit for the highest society.

Do you think this hobby, our latest, is a good one? If you do, why not say so? A dozen words of approval will make a store-keeper happy for a week.

By the way, eggs are very cheap these days—so much cheaper, comparatively, than meat, that the beef cattle are becoming jealous of the laying hens.

As a wholesome food eggs are rated A—I,—eat all you want.

AUNT NANCY'S VICTORY

SITUATION CLEARED UP BY RAY OF TRUTH.

Absolute Proof That Even With the Best of Intentions It Doesn't Pay to Deceive Is Here Made Manifest.

Alicia turned from the window, her eyes dancing. "Mrs. Frank Finney is just about to open the gate. She has a dish in her hands. I think," the laughter in her eyes bubbled over into her voice, "I think, Aunt Nancy, it contains lobster salad. I saw her buying a lobster this morning and I catch a gleam of lettuce under the napkin."

Aunt Nancy put down her work in distress.

"My soul! and I never touch lobster, nor you, either! I had to throw away that she brought over a couple of weeks ago."

"But you know," Alicia hinted wickedly, "you told her it looked so delicious. And you thanked her for it so—so touchingly, Aunt Nancy. No wonder she's bringing you more when it gave you such pleasure!"

Aunt Nancy turned with the air of one goaded to desperation. "Nancy Alicia Dudley, you scat! If I have to face this thing out I don't want any spectators." And Nancy Alicia, her eyes dancing more than ever, obeyed.

Half an hour later she returned and meekly asked permission to enter. Aunt Nancy gave it cheerfully. There was no lobster salad in sight, and Alicia had taken the pantry on her way.

"Do you mind telling me," she inquired respectfully, "where it is?"

Aunt Nancy scorned subterfuge. "At Mrs. Frank Finney's, I suppose," she said, calmly.

"Aunt Nancy! What did you do? How did it happen? Wasn't it lobster salad, really? Was she taking it to someone else?" Alicia was plainly excited.

"It was lobster salad," Aunt Nancy replied, "and she brought it to me. I told her the truth."

There was a thrilling silence.

"The—truth?" Alicia inquired.

"I did. I told her I couldn't abide lobster, nor my niece, either. I told her we had to throw away the other, being afraid she'd discover it if we gave it away. I told her it had been on my conscience ever since—not only because it was a lie, but because I hated to see good food wasted. So I begged her to take it to someone else."

"What did she say?" asked Alicia.

"And I told her," Aunt Nancy pursued, "if ever she could send me a mite of her angel cake when she was making any, I'd be real pleased, because I never can make any to equal hers. And then she confessed that none of them care much for jellies (I sent her some mint, you know), but that Mr. Finney had been longing for some of my raised doughnuts. So I'm going to send him some tomorrow. We had the nicest talk we ever had in our lives."

"Efficiency in neighborliness," Alicia murmured. "Aunt Nancy, you're great. May I carry over the doughnuts?"—Youth's Companion.

Propose Aeroplane Landings.

Rear Admiral Robert E. Peary, chairman of the aeronautical map committee of the Aero Club of America, has submitted to the club a plan to establish landing stations for aeroplanes throughout the United States, and he and Edwin Gould have offered lands owned by them in Maine and Georgia respectively for this purpose. The governors of the club have accepted the offers and have instructed Mr. Peary to accept any others that may be made. Mr. Peary's land is an island east of Portland, Me. Mr. Gould's a stretch of marsh land opposite Jekyl Island, Georgia.

Best When Married.

Dorothy Bentley, the dancer, and the wife of her erstwhile artistic associate, Carlos Sebastian, is a strong disciple of matrimony. Miss Bentley and Mr. Sebastian were recently arranging their extensive vaudeville tour, and the friends of the Newlyweds strove to embarrass her.

"It is great, this married life," she confessed to a friend. "Why don't you try it?"

"Because," replied the friend, "all the best men are married."

"True, quite true," Mrs. Sebastian confessed, "but they were not the best men until they were married."

Deadly Torpedo.

Under the direction of Commander John K. Robinson, U. S. N., commanding the naval torpedo station at Newport, R. I., a test was recently made which seems to prove that the torpedo net is no longer a secure defense against the torpedo. In the experiment a torpedo with a heavy charge of gun cotton was fired from the torpedo boat Morris while she was running at 18 knots at a steel net which was moored to protect the target. The torpedo went through the net, struck the target and exploded.

SHOW GREAT SKILL

Australian Sheepdogs Are Marvels at Their Work.

Have Been Brought to a High Degree of Intelligence—Work of Sheep Station Impossible Without Them.

Sheepdog trials may be considered a national pastime if not a national sport in Australia. There is an annual agricultural show in every town and village in the pastoral parts. There are general competitions on the lines of the American county and state fairs. There are horse races, buck jumping, shearing, log chopping, and other strenuous competitions. But not one of these excites more interest than the sheepdog trials; and in these tests Australians have set the example of certain of the most serious tasks that a man and a dog may be asked to accomplish with three strange sheep—sheep that had never previously met until they had a moment before been turned out from three separate pens to be packed or gathered together by the dog. It was the Australians who first put forward, and they still maintain it, the maltese cross test. The eight six-foot hurdles are set in the shape of a maltese cross. The passages are of a width that will permit only one sheep to pass through at a time. The animals have to be driven north and south and east and west, all the passes being open at the time. The skill and patience of the dog are here tried to the utmost, and there can be little wonder there is a gasp of satisfaction and a cheer of joy when the sheep have been successfully driven through these narrow ways. The Australian sheepdogs are the smallest in use in the world, but are quick and lively in their work. It is no wonder that the Australian gives much thought for his dogs, for it goes without saying that the work of the sheep station could not be accomplished without them. In ordinary cases it is reckoned that one dog can do the work of half a dozen men; in many instances a dog is superior to 50 humans; and where there are such vast flocks of nimble sheep, such as the merinos in Australia are, it would be impossible to round them up so that they may be examined, counted, and duly looked over without the dogs.

USED IN SUBMERGED VESSELS

Remarkable Invention That Will Be of Inestimable Value in Work of Salvage.

This invention provides a floating device equipped with a signal or signals operable from a station within a submerged vessel; provides means for liberating at will said device; provides a variety of signals carried by said device and operable from within the hull of the submerged vessel; provides suitable devices for establishing communication with the inmates of the submerged vessel; provides means for supplying a submerged vessel with atmospheric air, and provides means for elevating a submerged vessel or for assisting in the elevation thereof. —Scientific American.

Plant Pathology.

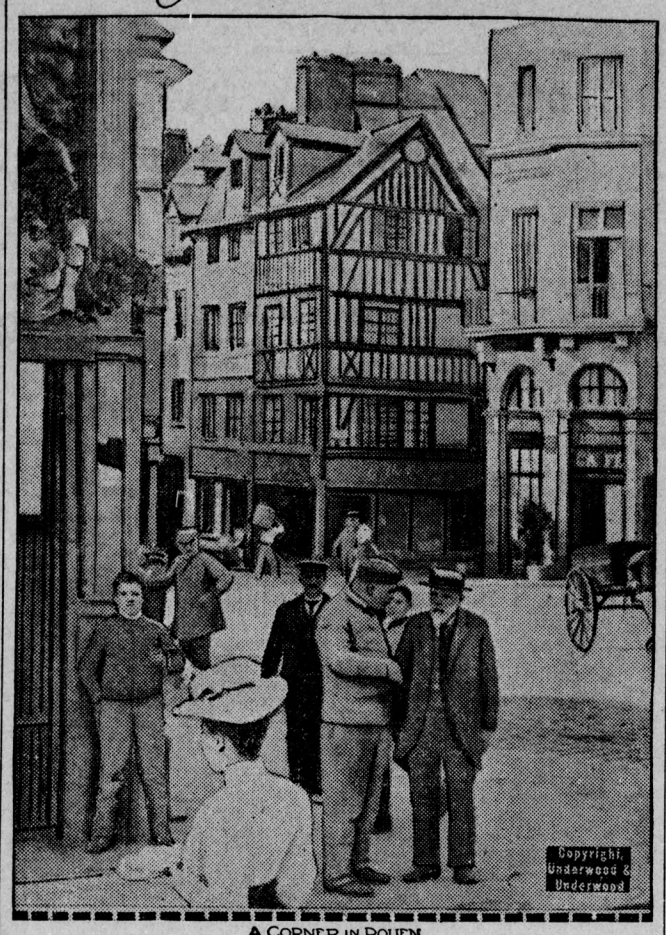
Among the "young sciences" now being developed stands plant pathology, which is intended to be for plants what medical science is for man. Few people realize, says Dr. E. S. Reynolds, the large loss of money caused every year by plant diseases, and fewer yet know that much has already been done to diminish this loss. A conservative estimate of the annual loss through the bitter rot of apples in this country is $10,000,000. By proper spraying methods 90 per cent of the loss from peach yellows has been saved. Oat smut has nearly lost its terrors. Curious facts have been developed, such as this: The common grain rust, although identical in form and appearance on wheat, oats and rye, cannot be taken from any one of the three hosts and grown on either of the others.—Youth's Companion.

Consolation.

Two Frenchmen were talking in a cafe in Paris. "Scandalous," said one. "It's been two whole days now since there's been an extra with news of a victory."

"That's all right," replied the other. "Why should there be? According to all the victory bulletins we've already had, there can't be many Prussians left."

Gray Old Rouen



A CORNER IN ROUEN

ROUEN, although barely sixty miles in direct line northwest of Paris, and considerably less than one hundred miles from the scene of the present savage struggle in northeastern France, sits in peace and cares for thousands of the wounded allies in her hospitals, writes E. N. Vallandigham in the Philadelphia Record. She believes her noble old cathedral, with its fantastic spire of iron openwork shooting more than 450 feet heavenward, safe from the fate of the lovely structure at Reims, less than 150 miles distant.

The bombardment of Rouen would mean the ruin of some of the noblest and oldest ecclesiastic structures in France, but Rouen has maintained her serenity on her beautiful site beside the Seine in these last months and has sent forward again to the front many a soldier nursed back to life and health. Her ancient churches, some of them worn, as it were to the bone, by centuries of wind and rain, have been even more frequented than usual by these praying Normans, and her lovely little street shrines have attracted more and more the pious glances of the passers-by.

Looks Its Age.

Rouen is one of the few old European cities of considerable size that really look their age. She has accomplished the seeming marvel of modernizing her political and industrial life without throwing off her medieval garb. Here dwell 125,000 or 130,000 people, forming an active modern community, with the public appointments and conveniences of a twentieth century city, yet thousands of them live in houses from 250 to 600 years old, and the region round about seems to the traveler enriched at every step with the dust of centuries.

Hardly eight miles away, approached through the magnificent public forest of Roumere, covering 10,000 acres, is the perfectly preserved twelfth century Norman church of St. George de Boscherville, while at every turn one meets in the city ancient towers and lovely remnants of old ecclesiastical architecture. Rouen long ago outgrew its walls, though a bit of the old defenses that actually defied Shakespeare's Prince Hal almost exactly 500 years ago still stands.

Broad, new thoroughfares have penetrated the very heart of the old town, yet everywhere the middle ages crop out, and there remain at least a score of old streets so narrow that the overhanging upper stories almost meet, while there is scant room for pedestrians to pass one another below. The narrowest streets have no sidewalk whatever, while in many others, busy and crowded, the footway is less than two feet wide.

Remains of the Normans.

It is, of course, not Celtic Rouen, the seat of a bishopric more than 1,600 years ago, that now survives, but rather Norman Rouen, which is only 1,000 years old. How those tall, crazy-looking, half-timbered houses, huddled so that the sun in some cases never penetrates to the narrow streets and alleys between, have escaped destruction by fire all these centuries who shall guess? Much of Rouen's medievalism has sought to hide itself behind a superficially modern front. What looks like a weather-boarded house, at most 50 years old, turns out when one pries a bit to be a fifteenth or sixteenth century survival, with heavy, hewn beams and perpendicular timbers forming more than half the wall.

Commonplace house fronts show quaint old carvings such as went to decorate the dwellings of the more important burghers of the fifteenth century. All sorts of modern occupations are carried on in houses built long before such occupations were known to men. Inns that bid for the custom of the tourist still retain the old central court where plays were enacted with the well-to-do looking on from the hotel balconies, the common folk from what we should now call the pit, then the roughly cobbled inn yard itself. Such inns have the oddest, unexpected stairways, the queerest red-tiled hallways, narrow and dusky, great beams showing beneath the plaster, windows a single pane wide between the perpendicular timbers and fireplaces, now nearly bricked up, but once open and generous, with blazing logs before which basked the tired travelers of 500 years ago.

Normans of Today.

In meeting the Normans of today as they go about their ancient capital one feels anew the marvels of their history. One fancies in watching the common people of Rouen that one sees in these descendants of Duke Rollo's sea-wolves a persistence of the traits that made their ancestors the most dreaded pirates of their day, the founders of kingdoms in widely sundered parts of Europe. The women in particular have a high distinction in face and figure. Girls walk with a singularly charming grace, with the air of possessing the earth that they tread, and carry their heads proudly, as if recalling the rough glories of their race for 1,000 years. Beauty of line and expression is the dower of many women in Norman Rouen, and both men and women are quickly responsive to courtesy from a stranger.

A lively and active race are these Normans of Rouen and its environs. Cider, their favorite drink, is served at the simpler sort of inns instead of wine and at all restaurants and drinking places. Sometimes it comes to the table hardened by many weeks in the barrel; sometimes it appears artificially colored red, heavily sugared and strongly charged with its own or other gases. A substantial luncheon of bread, cheese, salted butter and a quart of cider may be had at some of the suburban villages for about twenty cents, and excellent is it in all respects. Perhaps this drink has saved the Normans from stronger liquors.

Joan's Memory Honored.

The slums of Rouen show as repellent human manifestations as one can find in almost any city, and waterside loafers are sometimes desperate looking characters, though, perhaps, this impression is due partly to their squalid dress, unshaven faces and unfamiliar dialect. Some of the women who inhabit the lofty old ruins on the edge of a sewerlike canal in one of Rouen's worst quarters would furnish excellent models for the painter of Norman criminal life. But the human flotsam and jetsam is seemingly a small proportion of the population. Indeed, Normandy seems to have preserved the ideals and virtue of an older France. Here, if anywhere, the influence of sainted Joan's career is powerfully felt, and the city where she suffered fiery death does penance by paying her peculiar honor.

The spot in the public street where she bravely met martyrdom in her fresh and lovely girlhood is marked for all beholders, and her statue greets one at every turn, while the ancient churches vie with one another in perpetuating her memory. If one is sometimes inclined to think that the French undervalue maidenhood one must remember that the supremely popular heroine of the nation was a stainless girl who died joyfully for her country the cruelest of deaths at the age of eighteen. Joan's spirit marches today with the French armies defending the frontiers of the well-beloved land.

LESSON IN PATIENCE

FATHER'S STORY OF HASTY ACTION REGRETTED.

Only a Little Domestic Episode, It May Be Called, But Really One of the Big Things That Influence Life.

"It was a wonderful lesson," said a man the other day, "and I know I shall never forget it. You see, I was irritable, as I often used to be. That day I was worse than usual. We had been out late the night before, and I was tired. Then things had gone wrong at the office—nothing serious at all, but just a succession of little annoyances, so that I was particularly chafed.

The children were a little late at luncheon, and as their mother wanted to wait for them, I fancied my causes for irritation were rather multiplying.

"The explosion came when I passed a plate to my son, a boy of seven. He was a little slow in taking it, and, as I thought, almost dropped it when he did take it, being intent upon some ridiculously affectionate message he was telegraphing to his mother. This was too much for me, so I proceeded to deliver a lecture on the evils of inattention.

"At that moment it seemed to me nothing could benefit that boy more than to learn, once for all, that strict attention to the business of the moment is the chief accomplishment and charm of manhood.

"The boy turned a bit pale, and a look of something—I thought it was resentment—passed over his face. I thought, also, I detected his lips moving, though no words came. 'I'll teach you to mutter at me,' I shouted. 'You people may just as well learn at once who is the head of this house. And if there is one thing I will not stand for it is impudent muttering when a boy is corrected.'

"My passion waxed hotter as I spoke, and again I thought I detected the lips moving in reply. Quite carried beyond all reason, I rose from the table and remarked, in tones which were unmistakable, that the time had evidently come when a lesson must be given in terms other than words.

"I ordered him up from the table, dragged him to the stairs, half carried, half shoved him up and flung him upon his bed. 'Don't whip me, daddy! I'll be good,' he pleaded; but no, that wrath had to spend itself.

"When I had finished something seemed to clear from my brain. We walked down the stairs in silence and resumed our places at the table. I urged the boy to eat, and my voice was gentler now. He declined, but he, too, spoke gently, and as I furtively watched him hold back the tears I saw the strength of a man in the eyes of the boy of seven.

"Soon we left the table, and I retired to the library and picked up the paper. For some time I was left alone; then, looking up, I saw the boy standing in the doorway looking at me. The boy! The handsome lad I boasted about to every friend I had! The light of my eyes and the very warmth of my heart! For I adored—I worshiped—that lad. I wanted to tell him how I felt.

"And as I looked, suddenly he smiled and came to me. Placing his hands on my shoulders, the eyes I loved looking into mine, he said: 'I'll forgive you, daddy, and we'll say nothing about it.' And then the arms went round my neck, and the head came down close to mine, and the tears which had been held back bathed my cheek.

"Though only seven, he was the bigger man of the two, and I knew it. 'Sonny,' I said, 'I'm going to swear off. I'm going to conquer my temper. We'll never have a disgraceful scene like that again. I'm all through with that kind of thing, laddie. I'm going to be as much of a man as you are.'

"He drew back and looked me square in the eye, and saw that I meant it. Then he whispered in my ear: 'All right, daddy, and I'll help you.'

"That's all there is to it. Only a little domestic episode! But it was one of the big lessons of life to me. And, I tell you, it settled accounts with my temper. It's not the master now, for I am."

Wa and Ug.

Governor-elect Whitman, at a dinner in New York, praised the New Year resolution habit.

"A good habit," he said, "and a very, very old one. It dates, in fact, from the stone age.

"Dressed in the furs of wild beasts two men of the stone age, Wa and Ug, met one New Year's morning.

"'Say, Wa,' said the first man, 'lend me your crowbar, will you?'

"'What for, Ug?' asked the second man.

"'I want to go home,' said the first, 'and turn over a new leaf.'"

War Order.

Customer—Here, waiter. Where are the olives? Hold on. Bring me a half a melon and some cracked ice.

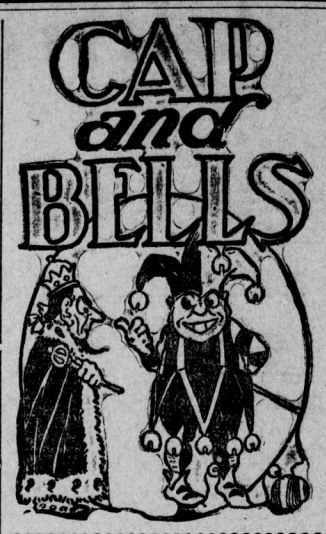
The Waiter (loudly)—Dumdums, half a bombshell and bowl of shrapnel!—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Expecting More Turn-Downs.

"I understand that Jack has been thrown over by no fewer than three girls he's been engaged to."

"Yes; he's working now on an adjustable engagement ring."

CAP and BELLS



WRONG MEANING OF MESSAGE

Young Wife Makes Amusing Interpretation of Scripture in a Telegram From Girl Friend.

They were speaking of the remarkable way in which telegraphic messages are occasionally interpreted, and this story was recalled by Governor-elect David I. Walsh of Massachusetts.

Some time ago the stork visited the home of a happy young couple in a New England town, and wishing to notify her girl chum who lived in a distant city, the mother sent the following telegram:

"For unto us a child is born.—Isaiah 9:6."

"Oh, John," exclaimed the girl chum to her husband on receiving the dispatch. "I have just got a telegram from Gladys and what do you think?"

"You have got me chucked out at first in the conundrum game," indulgently smiled John. "What's the answer?"

"Gladys has a baby boy!" enthusiastically responded little wifey. "His name is Isaiah and he weighs nine pounds and six ounces!"—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Reciprocity.

"You don't feel any personal resentment toward the man who defeated you?"

"No," replied the statesman. "I'm too broad-minded for that, of course."

"As a matter of fact, you are doubtless grateful to him for allowing you to leave behind the cares of public office and devote yourself to more lucrative private business."

"Certainly. But I never forget a favor. I'm going to do my best to give him an opportunity to feel the same kind of gratitude next election."

Faulty Measurements.

"I wouldn't have minded what you said about me," said the man who protests mildly, "if you hadn't been so inconsistent."

"What do you mean?" asked the vituperative person.

"Your sense of proportion is wrong. In that letter you wrote about me, you started out by saying my head was swelled, and in the next sentence you refer to me as a 'pinhead.'"

HARD ON HER.

Knowsitt—Miss Antique is certainly a self-possessed woman.

Caustique—Yes, and I don't imagine she'll ever get a chance to dispose of the property.

A Retreat.

"And you call this your music room?"

"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox.

"But there are no musical instruments in it."

"No. It's so constructed that I can't hear any of the surrounding music that may be turned on from time to time."

An Up-to-Date Scholar.

"Now, Johnny," said the old-fashioned member of the school board, "who was the Father of His Country?"

The bright boy of the class hesitated a moment and then replied:

"Please, sir, they don't teach eugenics in our school."

Equivocal.

"Harold, darling, pa won't let me keep that bull pup you gave me."

"Dearest, are you much disappointed that you have to give it up?"

"No, Harold, as long as he will let me keep you."

Same as Human Way.

"That mule is a philosopher."

"In what way?"

"He accepts the fact that life is just one continual combination of wheel and whoa."

IF YOUR CHILD IS CROSS, FEVERISH, CONSTIPATED

Look, Mother! If Tongue Is Coated, Cleanse Little Bowels With "California Syrup of Figs."

Mothers can rest easy after giving "California Syrup of Figs," because in a few hours all the clogged-up waste, sour bile and fermenting food gently moves out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Sick children needn't be coaxed to take this harmless "fruit laxative." Millions of mothers keep it handy because they know its action on the stomach, liver and bowels is prompt and sure.

Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which contains directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups.

To Line the Cake Pan.

Waxed paper, such as comes inside cracker boxes, is splendid to line cake pans which are a trifle thin. Cut pieces to fit, then flour them, pour in the batter, stand the hot pans after baking on a wet cloth for five minutes. The cakes will drop out when inverted.

Quick Relief When Utterly Worn Out

Getting the Blood in Order Is Required By Most People.

If you think you have gone to smash and fit only for the discard, try S. S. S. for the blood. It will surprise you to know what can be done for health once the blood is released of the excess of body wastes that keep it from exercising its full measure of bodily repair.

If you feel played out, go to any drug store and ask for a bottle of S. S. S. Here is a remedy that gets at work in a twinkling; it just naturally rushes right into your blood, scatters germs right and left, up and down and sideways.

You feel better at once, not from a stimulant, not from the action of drugs, but from the rational effect of a natural medicine.

The ingredients in S. S. S. serve the active purpose of so stimulating the cellular tissues of the body that they pick out from the blood their own essential nutriment and thus repair work begins at once. The relief is general all over the system.

Do not neglect to get a bottle of S. S. S. today. It will make you feel better in just a few minutes. It is prepared only in the laboratory of The Swift Specific Co., 538 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Send for their free book telling of the many strange conditions that afflict the human family by reason of impoverished blood.

Fundamental Principles of Health

By ALBERT S. GRAY, M.D.

(Copyright, 1914, by A. S. Gray)

A WORD ABOUT CANCER.

United States government reports show that during the ten years preceding 1911 the population of this country increased 21 per cent. During this period the death rate per 100,000 from cancer increased 30 per cent among males and 22 per cent among females. "The extraordinary increase in the mortality due to cancer in this and other countries has long since raised that malady to the proportions of a great plague," says an authority who wrote on this subject recently. "The power of human resistance to this disease seems to be steadily declining." He then proceeds to predict that at the present rate of increase in another 25 years cancer will cause more deaths than tuberculosis, typhoid fever and malaria combined.

Scientists throughout the world are diligently searching for the cause of this fearful scourge of mankind, in order that a specific preventive and cure may be found. Meanwhile every individual should be informed that cancer is to a large degree preventable if we will but apply the knowledge we already possess to guard against it.

There are many theories as to the cause of cancer, the most logical one being that advanced by a group of microscopists working along biological lines. The basis of this theory is that cancer is a state of anarchy within the body. To be able to grasp the theory and also to understand why the X-ray is at all effective in cases of cancer it is necessary to have a thorough comprehension of the proposition advanced by Virchow in 1858, which I have noted in a previous article; namely, that each one of the cells composing the human body is a distinct individual possessed of all the characteristics of life. That is to say, every reader of this article is composed of many billions of individuals, each having all the powers and faculties that the reader is conscious of possessing and differing in no way save in degree. Every living thing is constructed of these same individual cells, composed of the same protoplasm, and differs only in organization.

According to the above mentioned theory of cancer, for some reason one of these individual cells declares its independence of all the rest of the body, refuses longer to co-operate and goes on strike. We do not know whether the body makes any effort to cast the striker out of the community or not; but however that may be the unruly cell proceeds to proliferate—that is to say, it multiplies by dividing, one cell splitting into two, the two into four, the four into eight and so on, thus multiplying beyond all normal limitations and so, growing inordinately, wrecks the entire organism.

It is during the first few years and more particularly during the first year of life that the highest human mortality takes place. The newly proliferated cells are not thoroughly organized and the entire organism is therefore weak and unstable. Ordinarily we do not think of working young children or animals, beause we know that their tissues are soft and therefore that they may very easily be broken down and ruined; but at maturity we know there is a more perfect organization, the cells are more fixed, stable and adaptable and are therefore highly resistant. This fact forms the basis for the action of the X-rays on cancer.

There is no remedy known to medicine that has a selective influence, there is nothing that can be put into these bodies of ours that will drive disease out and not touch healthy tissues. But, depending on the state of the individual cell vitality, tissues react differently to the same influence; hence tissues having marked power of proliferation are necessarily composed of masses of these young or "juvenile" cells and are of course vastly more susceptible to any influence than are the more fully formed and stable "adult" cells which may often remain unchanged for years.

An "anarchist cell" finds a favorable location and proceeds to proliferate; that is to say, it multiplies by division, as all the somatic cells do, and these young and weak cells form what is technically known as "juvenile" tissue within the more stable, older, or "adult' tissue of the organ in which the cancerous process is taking place. If now the "hard," very penetrating rays of the X-ray are turned upon this diseased area one of two things takes place—either the short, sharp oscillations, which we have noted approximate more than 800,000,000,000 per second, shake these weak "juvenile" cells into a healthful reaction, or they destroy them as a dog kills a rat by shaking it, and the healthy cells are stimulated by the light

IMPORTANT THAT PUBLIC SHOULD KNOW ABOUT GREAT KIDNEY REMEDY

The testimonial I am to give you comes unsolicited. I have been suffering from lumbago for ten years and at times was unable to stand erect. A Mr. Dean of this city, saw me in my condition (bent over) and inquired the cause. I told him that I had the lumbago. He replied, "If you get what I tell you to, you need not have it." I said I would take anything for ease. He said, "You get two bottles of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp Root and take it, and if it does not fix you O. K. I will pay for the medicine myself." I did so and am a well man. For five months I have been as well as could be. Before I took your Swamp-Root, was in constant pain day and night. This may look like advertising, but it seems to me most important that the public should be made familiar with this treatment as it is the only one I know which is an absolute cure. I owe a great deal to Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and am anxious that others situated as I was should know and take advantage of it. Hoping that this testimonial may be of benefit to some one, I am,

TIME'S CHANGES IN ATCHISON

City's Parlor Walls Form a Complete, Comprehensive History of Art, Fully Illustrated.

In a town the size of Atchison it is not necessary to join an art study class to learn the history of art; it is written on the walls of the houses in the town. When an engraving of "Washington Crossing the Delaware" hangs on the wall, and a chromo of a woman with a shawl over her head stares over her left shoulder as though she were making a wish on the new moon, the house is ruled from kitchen to parlor by "mother," and she is between sixty and seventy years of age, and believes in the "old masters."

When Madonnas holding fat babies are on the parlor walls, and highly thin women in red robes tooting bright yellow horns which they hold to their mouths with wooden fingers, the lady of the house adores sacred art and knows how to pronounce Fra Angelica, Bondenhousen, Raphael and the rest.

When there is a picture on the wall of a weak-looking boy hanging on the neck of a motherly looking woman, while father and children look on, visitors at the house recognize the art that was born during the Chicago world's fair, and when "Breaking Home Ties" became the rage.

A little later period in the art history of the town is represented by pictures on the parlor walls of a fine, healthy looking young man wearing a monk's habit, with the cowl slipping off from his thick hair. People posted in "art" know that is a picture of Hosea.

When there are pen-and-ink sketches of square-jawed men and tall, bony young women in very low-neck evening dresses the rage of Gibson pictures (now about extinct) is represented.

When there are water-color pictures of girls with pink cheeks, lips puckered up as though ready to be kissed and colored pictures of a chubby little girl, under which is written "Innocence," with a scattering of funny pictures of gayly colored English ladies and gentlemen climbing in and out of busses, "modern art" is displayed and the presiding genius of the house is a bride, and those pictures were wedding gifts.—Atchison Globe.

10 CENT "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER AND BOWELS

Cure Sick Headache, Constipation, Biliousness, Sour Stomach, Bad Breath—Candy Cathartic.

No odds how bad your liver, stomach or bowels; how much your head aches, how miserable you are from constipation, indigestion, biliousness and sluggish bowels—you always get relief with Cascarets. They immediately cleanse and regulate the stomach, remove the sour, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry off the constipated waste matter and poison from the intestines and bowels. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet and head clear for months. They work while you sleep.

A Comparison.

"How are things going in this neck of the woods?" inquired the recently arrived washing machine agent, who visited Polkville sufficiently often to be mildly interested in the affairs of the hamlet.

"Well, to state the fact," replied the landlord of the tavern, "things are nearly as dull here just now as I should judge, from reading the papers, things always are in the best society up to the city."—Puck.

Judicial Decisions.

The New York Law Journal says concerning an English decision:

"The English case illustrates the superiority of the English law to our own in that a prisoner may be found guilty but insane. This English rule is preferable on many grounds, but its adoption is especially desirable here because of the form of the interstate rendition law. The difficulty over Harry K. Thaw's escape from New York and the unsuccessful efforts for his extradition would have been avoided if he had been adjudged guilty but insane, instead of acquitted on the ground of insanity. A bill was passed by both houses of the legislature at the last session to authorize verdicts of 'guilty but insane.' Unfortunately it contained an incidental clause to enable defendants to plead 'guilty but insane.' This would have furnished a subterfuge by which any person, although both guilty and sane, might escape the penalty for his crime, and for this grave defect Governor Glynn very properly vetoed the measure. It ought to be reintroduced in amended form in the next legislature."

Chocolate Custard.

To one cupful of hot milk add two tablespoonfuls of grated chocolate, two well-beaten eggs, four tablespoonfuls of powdered sugar, a slight pinch of salt and one tablespoonful of cornstarch mixed smooth with a little cold milk. Let the mixture reach the boiling point, remove from the stove, and when cool pour into cups or glasses. Place in the refrigerator until firm and cold, and serve with whipped cream.

END STOMACH TROUBLE, GASES OR DYSPEPSIA

"Pape's Diapepsin" Makes Sick, Sour, Gassy Stomachs Surely Feel Fine in Five Minutes.

If what you just ate is souring on your stomach or lies like a lump of lead, refusing to digest, or you belch gas, and eructate sour, undigested food, or have a feeling of dizziness, heartburn, fullness, nausea, bad taste in mouth and stomach-headache, you can get blessed relief in five minutes. Put an end to stomach trouble forever by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any drug store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia of any stomach disorder. It's the quickest, surest stomach doctor in the world. It's wonderful.

Instructing the Cub.

When Fred Heiskell was city editor of the Arkansas Gazette a cub reporter turned in a "story" that ran like this: "Buck Seymour was seen with a two-inch auger going down the river road this morning. Wonder what Buck is after now?"

"Here, young man," called out the city editor, "this story is incomplete. We don't print that kind of items in the Gazette. Tell what Buck was doing with the auger."

"I—I didn't find out," the cub stammered.

"Well, I'll tell you this one time. Plainly, he was going after grease fish. You catch 'em by boring a hole in the water and baiting the surface with dried prunes. The grease fish comes out, eats the prunes and swells up so he can't get back in the hole."—New York Mail

A TREATMENT THAT HEALS MOST SKIN DISEASES

Don't stand that itching skin humor one day longer. Go to the nearest druggist and, for about 75c, get a jar of resinol ointment and a cake of resinol soap. Bathe the eczema patches with resinol soap and hot water, dry and apply a little resinol ointment.

It's almost too good to be true. The torturing, itching and burning stop instantly, you no longer have to dig and scratch, sleep becomes possible, and healing begins. Soon the ugly, torturing eruptions disappear completely and for good.—Adv.

To Keep Fish.

Fish may be preserved for a couple of days in a very simple yet safe way. Boil together three quarts of water and a pint of vinegar. When just on the boil put in the fish and scald it, but not for more than two minutes. Hang the fish in a cool place, and it will keep fresh even in the hottest weather.

From Girlhood to Womanhood

THE change may be critical and cause untold suffering in after-life. The modern young woman is often a "bundle of nerves"—"high strung"—fainting spells—emotional—frequently blue and dissatisfied with life. Such girls should be helped over this distressing stage in life—by a woman's tonic and nervine—that has proven successful for over 40 years.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a keen enemy to the physical weaknesses of woman. A medicine prepared by regular graduated physician of unusual experience in treating woman's diseases—carefully adapted to work in harmony with the most delicate feminine constitution.

It is now obtainable in liquid or sugar-coated tablet form at the drug store—or send 50 one-cent stamps for a trial box, to Buffalo.

Every woman may write fully and confidentially to Dr. Pierce and his staff of physicians and Specialists at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and may be sure that her case will receive careful, conscientious, confidential consideration, and that experienced medical advice will be given to her free.

DR. PIERCE'S PLEASANT PELLETS regulate and invigorate stomach, liver and bowels. Sugar coated, tiny granules easy to take as candy.

FOR VARIATION IN THE MENU

There Are Days When Fish Will Be Appreciated, and Baked Cod Can Be Recommended.

Here is a good way of baking cod: Have the fish skinned and backbone removed. Lay on an earthenware platter, open. Sprinkle with salt and pepper, dip oysters separately in melted butter, then in crumbs and lay on one-half of fish. When covered fold other side over, brush with beaten egg, moisten the crumbs with the butter. There will be some oyster liquor in the butter from dipping, but use it. Cover the fish with the crumbs, so prepared. Do not put any water on the fish. Set pan of water under the platter to keep platter from cracking and have oven hot. A four-pound fish will require one-half pint oysters, one-half pint crumbs and one-quarter cupful of butter. Bake about forty minutes. Serve on the platter it is baked in. If you wish to bake the fish with the skin and bone on put plenty of strips of fat pork over it and baste with the drippings. Never use water for baked fish. Do not bake too long. When the flakes separate it is done. When baked on a platter, without the skin, it requires no basting.

Constipation causes many serious diseases. It is thoroughly cured by Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. One a laxative, three for cathartic.—Adv.

GOOD DOCTORS WERE SCARCE

Amusing and Extraordinary Letter From Western Mining Prospector Who Had Set Up as "Doctor."

In the days when the West was really "wild" and "woolly," good doctors were scarcer than women out in the mining camps.

Sometimes a man who had failed at prospecting would set up an "office" in a shack and become a "lawyer," or "dentist," or "doctor." There is a young physician in Chicago whose father was one of the few competent physicians in a wide stretch of country; it was not unusual for him to ride 50 or 100 miles to visit a patient. He once got the following extraordinary letter from one of the mining failures who had set up as a "doctor."

"Dear Dick I have a pashunt whose trubbles I dirgnose as havin his windpipe ulserated off and his lungs dropped down in his stummik. I have given hym everythink you could think of but with no effeck his father is a rich and wellthy man with bushels of monney and inflooenshul and the land nose I don't want to loss hym he is too good a pashunt what shal I do for hym plees ans a reply by return male at once. Dam Is 351 Feet High.

Work on the great Arrow Rock dam on the Boise river, Idaho, is approaching completion and could, if necessary, be finished within a few weeks, although probably it will go on for another year. The dam will be 351 feet high, 100 feet wide and about 400 feet long at the base and 1,060 feet long at the top. It is of re-enforced concrete, of which 530,000 cubic yards have been used. It will store water to a depth of 330 feet. The back water will extend 20 miles upstream, making a lake containing 230,000 acre-feet of water. A thousand tons of steel have been used for the five gates.

The Autocrat.

"Do you think," said the man who talks all kinds of socialism, "that affairs should be permitted to go on in a way that may tend to leave some one man in a position to govern the food supply?"

"No," answered the unimaginative person, "but I don't see how you are going to compel the hotel to get rid of the head waiter."

To Prevent Saw Edges on Collars.

It is well known that the modern mechanical laundry methods are very hard on linen, and collars or cuffs soon have a rough edge which irritates the skin, even though the roughness is scarcely visible to the eye. This can be avoided by running over the edge a small rod having a suitable groove near one end, so as to flatten down the rough edge. A neat Paris device embodies this idea and also another useful one, for the pointed end of the rod serves as a buttonhole opener

THIS WOMAN'S SICKNESS

Quickly Yielded To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bridgeton, N.J.—"I want to thank you a thousand times for the wonderful good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I suffered very much from a female trouble. I had bearing down pains, was irregular and at times could hardly walk across the room. I was unable to do my housework or attend to my baby I was so weak. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did me a world of good, and now I am strong and healthy, can do my work and tend my baby. I advise all suffering women to take it and get well as I did."—Mrs. FANNIE COOPER, R.F.D., Bridgeton, N.J.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotic or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record of being the most successful remedy for female ills we know of, and thousands of voluntary testimonials on file in the Pinkham laboratory at Lynn, Mass., seem to prove this fact.

For thirty years it has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has restored the health of thousands of women who have been troubled with such ailments as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, tumors, irregularities, etc.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

As She Caught It

Printers make mistakes, sometimes, but to hear some people talk one would think they were the only ones; that's because other people cover up their mistakes, while a printer's error is always staring one in the face. But here is one from the Boston Transcript which shows that others are liable to mistakes:

The use of the telephone frequently results in some very funny mistakes. Prior to a meeting of the State Federation of Women's Clubs in Chicago a young woman was asked over the telephone if she would take two delegates to the convention. She agreed to do so, and on the day appointed showed up at the hall with two jelly cakes.

The Farmer and His Paper

"The farmer of today is entirely different from the farmer of yesterday," said Secretary C. N. McIlvaine, of the South Dakota State Fair, "and I really believe that the country newspapers have been the greatest aid to the farmers and made them what they are today. There is no better or quicker way to get an education than to read the papers. If a man is away from home his paper comes to him like a long lost friend. It just seems to me, when I read my home paper, as though I was shaking hands with a chum."

Polar Nights Delight Eskimos.

The polar Eskimos, the most northerly dwelling people in the world, are said to exist only by the exercise of great ingenuity and the practice of social virtue. The cheeriness, kindliness and practical socialism of the Eskimos from eastern Greenland to Alaska may be regarded as much due to their environment as is the necessity of eating large quantities of fat. The Eskimos hail the first dark evenings with the same glee as the first daylight after the polar night. When a whole summer through the eyes have been bathed in light, day and night, they long to see the land vanish into darkness again. And with the idea of a change they associate all the good things the winter will bring—the frozen sea and the hunting on the ice, the swift sledge drives, far from the sweltering houses, after bears.—Exchange.

Thrift Versus Stinginess.

It ought to be easy to tell the difference between thrift and stinginess. But many folk don't know it. No tightwad does. A thrifty man is always a liberal man, though not a wasteful one. When he spends a dollar his face doesn't show spasms of pain nor does he tremble with avarice until his dollar returns, leading another dollar of profit. He spends intelligently and therefore willingly, and is content to await the outcome, because he knows that in the long run he will get back from society about in proportion as he gives. As with individuals so with communities, states, nations. Economy doesn't mean parsimony. It means when and how to be liberal. It means having foresight.—Cleveland Press.

HAVE you noticed the numerous "wet" caucuses on the streets this past week? Such things are hardly the proper stunts for a "dry town in a dry district." The caucusers are "dry men" never fear.

IT is great "fun" to run off with an automobile belonging to some one you know, but it is a pretty dangerous game. There is a State law making it a misdemeanor to be in an automobile not your own, and a felony to move one unless with the owner's consent.—Hollister Bee.

BRE'R SMITH of the Mountain View Register-Leader turned his versatile pen point on W. Drummond Norie, county advertiser, in his last issue and almost "knocked his new map" off the boards. What's matter "Pop"? We thot it pretty fair, although Campbell has more orchards than indicated and we are not listed among those "miles from Frisco." But taking it as a whole the map gives a very good idea as to the relative locations of the various places. He did fail, however, to put the view in Mountain View, hence, the roast.

THE swiftest method of stopping the war in Europe and the continual rise of good products in America is to stop all shipping to European ports within the war zone. Flour has taken a tremendous leap in the past few months because of the demand for wheat products in the warring countries. A man can't fight and endure hardships so long when hungry as when fed. President Wilson instead of letting more loaded ships go to Europe with food to be seized can do a good turn to U. S. by keeping it at home to cut down the high cost of living. Please, Mr. Professor, have a care for your own subjects.

Local and Personal

For Sale—Thoroughbred R. I. Red eggs for hatching.
N. A. BLAKE, CAMPBELL, CAL.

Mrs. W. T. Alexander returned home Wednesday.

Remember the concert February 22nd by the Harmonic Orchestra of San Jose. Admission 25 cents.

This being C. E. week, the young people took charge of the mid-week meeting, which quite well attended.

Mrs. G. B. Cowles delivered a lecture on the missionary work in Africa at the Christian church last evening.

W. C. McCaughey returned from the hospital Saturday, after undergoing an operation from which he has recovered very rapidly.

Roy Vollman spent Sunday here with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Vollman expect to go to San Francisco next week to spend the summer with their boys and take in the fair.

Do you remember the Nineteenth? It is the time "The Searchlights" have their 10-cent Social at the Congregational church parlors. Various good "stunts" are promised, among them some rare pictures of the "Shake" showing earth crack, S. F. burning, etc. Come and enjoy a good time with "The Searchlights."

Captain Righter of the Campbell five is now making arrangements with a fast team of Berkeley for the Old Settlers' day game on the local courts. Santa Cruz players could not come so other plans were necessary. If Berkeley fails, the fast San Martin five will give us battle. Don't fail to see this last game of the season.

The Harmonic Orchestra of San Jose which comes to Campbell on February 22nd as the second number of the course of Entertainments given by the Epworth League will be a special treat to music lovers. This orchestra is composed of twenty numbers some of the strongest talent of San Jose. Their concerts this winter are proving very popular. There will be some special numbers in the way of solo's and quartets under the directorship of Prof. Ben F. King.

Rev. Geo. E. Atkinson was one of three speakers at a Conference in San Francisco last week when the Episcopal, Baptist, Presbyterian and Congregational Theological Seminaries gathered for their Bi-Annual Banquet. The faculty and students of the four Seminaries represented 8 or 9 various denominations, and was probably the largest "getting together" of men studying for the ministry ever gathered on the Coast. Mr. Atkinson spoke on "Opportunities of a Rural Pastorate." Dr. McQuilkin of San Jose spoke on "Evangelism." Bishop Gaylor, of the Episcopal Church of Tennessee was the principal speaker, his subject being, "The Progress and strength of Christianity as the world's Final Religion."

Grangers Busy

The Orchard City Grange met Tuesday evening with E. K. Clendenning in the chair. Altho for an hour before there was a continuous downpour, the attendance was better than on some good evenings. A number felt it their duty to go to the hall even if no one else went, and were surprised to find so many others, thus proving that it takes more than a storm to keep a Granger at home.

Interesting reports were given by all the committees, especially the legislative. A letter was received from the Santa Cruz Chamber of Commerce asking the endorsement of a bill to correct abuses to shippers by the commission houses at San Francisco. It was referred to the legislative committee.

The members unanimously endorsed the appointment of F. S. Newcomb for attendant at the Santa Clara Co. exhibit at the P. P. I. E.

Methodist Church Notes

The Ladies' Aid has recently provided and paid for the following items: shades for the pastor's study, four collection plates, thirty copies of the official hymnal, and repairs at the parsonage; at a cost of $29.25. The violet tea given by the ladies at Mrs. Rodeck's Tuesday was a very pleasant affair and well patronized.

In spite of the wet weather of the last four weeks, the Wednesday evening meeting has had an average attendance of 36, due in no small measure to the interest and efforts of the younger members of the congregation.

If you want an excellent map of San Francisco, write "The Methodist Book Concern, 5 City Hall Ave., San Francisco," and you will receive one free of cost that will please you very much.

Mr. Lloyd will speak Sunday morning on "Patriotism and Religion of Abraham Lincoln." In the evening we have a union of the two local churches. The Christian Endeavor leader, Miss Merna Sawyer, will have charge of the meeting in the Epworth League room, the topic being, "The Solid Foundations of Life." The evening sermon will be delivered in the Methodist church by the Rev. George E. Atkinson of the Congregational church on "the Battle of the Gods."

The Epworth Leagues of the county will hold a rally at Centella church, San Jose, Tuesday evening. Those of our chapter who expect to go down in time for dinner at the church should notify Miss Laura Dunning not later than Sunday.

The Quarterly Conference will meet at the close of prayer meeting Wednesday evening, with Dr. Stephens in the chair. We expect Dr. Stephens to be present and address the meeting at seven o'clock.

W. C. T. U. Notes

Slipping in between showers a goodly number of ladies gathered at the hospitable home of Mrs. Newcomb Wednesday, p. m.

Mrs. Kennedy led devotionals, reading the incomparable "Love chapter" and offering prayer that all might have the love "which hopeth all things, believeth all things and never faileth." Selections from the sayings of Miss Willard at roll call brought out a variety of timely thoughts. Under the head of untinished business, a letter from county President, Mrs. Orvis decided the date for holding the Institute under the leadership of Mrs. Addie Estes, State Superintendent of Institute—which is to be Wednesday, March 24th. Minor matters of business being disposed of there followed a program relating to the spirit of the occasion:—it being a Memorial to the life and work of Francis Willard. The offering taken is always used in advancing the cause for which she gave her life. At the close of the program the hostess served refreshments, of cakes and tea, also delicious unfermented grape juice, which the W. C. T. U. believes to be most wholesome and refreshing. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Bull, Wednesday, p. m., Feb. 24, at 2:30 o'clock.

Entries in the livestock department have been received since the outbreak of the war from Brittany and Boulogne, France, for two breeds of horses new to this country.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.

Sold by all Druggists. Price 75c per bottle.
